The game was replete with long hits. McGuire got two triples, Cartwright and Hassamer each one, and Mercer a double, while Sam Thompson got away with a pair of two-baggers, and Hamilton and Delehanty put each a ball into the right seats for a homer.

QUARTERMASTER'S BAD RACE

Jockeys Neel, Donovan, Dorsey, and Clare Were Reinstated-Al Helenbolt's Race Was a Queer One-Judge Martin Ruled Off the Rider-Talent Was in Bad Form and Did Not Win ..

The St. Asaph management again demor strated that they intend to have clean racing at any cost when yesterday they ruled off the horse Quartermaster and those con-nected with the crooked race that was run on Friday last.

B. Colzie, the owner, and R. King were the ones to suffer and there can be no doubt in the minds of all who want to see honest racing, that the ruling was just. Action was also taken in several other cases and a clean state hung out for the Fourth of July. The boys who have been set down for suspicious rides were all thought to have been punished enough or had proved that they had been unjustly punished, and were reinstated.

Those who profited by this ruling were.
Neel, Donovan, Dorsey and Clare. They have all received a good lesson and will be more careful in the future. Even Clare, who had been punished without cause, will hug the turns a little closer and take pains not to be caught mapping. WILL BE MORE CAREFUL.

There is something else that Clare will do, and that is, he will not take outside mounts from unscrupulous owners who do not besi tate to endanger a boy's reputation and means of making a living by sending him the post on a dead one, simply to gratify their own selfish ends. This is what got him in trouble before and, although the les-son was a costly one, it will be worth a good deal more to him in the long run.

Al Helenbolt's race in the two-year-old event was a very queer looking one. He got off in front, and getting a length in the lead looked to have a chance to win, but he suddenly stopped as they swung into the stretch and finished absolutely hast. Judge Martin thought the boy, J. Moore, Ind. Horse. Wt Ind. Horse. Wt.

Judge Martin thought the boy, J. Moore, pulled the horse and ruled him off. He may be right but it certainly did not look so from the stand. The horse was stopping fast and there was a good deal of josting on the turn into the stretch, caused by Lo Shade going wide, that threw him out of his stride.

The usual number of books were on and they did a good day's business and quit good winners, as the attendance was much larger than it was on Monday, and the talent appeared to be in bad form, in the horse and ruled him off. Clare was not to have been allowed to ride until to-day, but Honest John's brother came down to bet on Plunderer, so Judge Martin gave the boy permission to ride that horse. Johnny Distel sent Frontier over the wire from Oakley. It was a hot tip, and the handicappers got down on it to a man. When he was returned a winner a shout went upthat shook the betting ring.

WHAT a blessing it is to have good, Asound feet. What an additional blessing it is to have comfortable, perfectfitting Shoes-Shoes shaped after the human foot. We won't let any other kind get into our stock. We have sins enough and don't care to be responsible for crippling our fellow men. Even from this $3 Russia Leather Shoe (most popular shade of tan) to the finest in the house you'll find the same degree of perfection in shape and stylishness. If we didn't sell so many, we would also have to ask $3.50 for this Shoe like the others. The quantity sold is alone responsible for its being but $3. Same with this Imported Tan "Seal" Leather Shoes (high and low cut), which we sell at $5. Other's ask $6 for it. If you haven't tried a "Hoover & Snyder" Shoe it is time you were doing so. Money back if they don't turn out right.

the first and only one of the species ever born in captivity.

His training for an umpire has evidently been received on Duke Bill Thompson's race track at Gloucester, and he was snatched from his native jungle and let loose on the ball field to satisfy a yearning which has possessed him for years, to show the league how the thing ought to be done. done. THE TRUSTING YOUTH. Arthur Irwin said after the game that the trusting youth told him before the battle opened that for once he would see a game umpired without a kick. Wonder what he thinks about it now? He sweat blood for about two innings, and a riot was imminent the whole time Suddenly the trim figure of Miah Mur-ray was seen on the flayers' bench, and, with a cry of joy, President Young yanked him into the game, and the crowd received him like Sheridan at a second

Cedar Creek.

Miah went behind the bat and peace spread her white wingspover the stricken field, and when Mr. Reelherring actually gave Mind safe on a close call, the bleachers really gave him the glad hand, and things settled down to a quiet, gentlement of pame. Cedar Creek. man's sort of game. COST THREE RUNS.

This little episode of the unipire cost the locals three runs, and apparently the game, for Mr. Lampe, a last year's cast-off from Boston, was putting up some very clever twirling, and it was not until the fourth inning that they collared him and in the sevenih the Lampe went out and Moses was nowhere to be found. Philadelphia easily outbatted the Sen-ators, but the errors were very costly and were bunched with five Senatorial hits, which apparently put a fence around the game, for Maul pitched great ball after the second and for four innings shut the Quakers out, but in the ninth they broke loose again and brought on a fresh attack of parents by conduct within an acc of
